A Message from Fr. Cryton,

Let Us Have a Meaningful Festival

WE ARE IN THE 22ND SUNDAY OF THE ORDINARY TIME. It's a wonderful day for St. Mary's Parish community since we are celebrating the Parish fall festival on this Sunday. Thanks to the members of Ladies Sodality and all those who supported to organize this annual event. Celebration is a core aspect of spirituality. The things we celebrate reveal a piece of who we are, a piece of what we value and believe in the most.

As per Brittany Beacham, Life requires celebration – times of joy and rest. The modern rituals surrounding holidays often leave its observers that much wearier than when they started. And yet, from the beginning of creation to today, God has set aside for his people times of rest (Sabbath) and celebration.

Festivals in the Bible: Passover, the Festival of Unleavened Bread, the Offering the First Fruits, the Festival of Weeks, the Festival of Trumpets, the Day of Atonement and the Festival of Tabernacles were times set aside for remembering the good things God had done for his people – pointing them to things He had done for them in the past, reminding them of His provision and mercy for them in the present, and the promise of what He would do for them in the future. When He sent His son, Jesus the Messiah, He too modeled celebration. Throughout the gospels, we see Him not only observing His traditional Israelite holidays but feasting with friends and using celebrations as illustrations in His parables.

Modern Day Festivals: For Awaits Awan, it's more important than ever to get together and share in common cultural joy as the psychological distress is at rise worldwide. In the busy day of a modern man, it becomes really important that the person takes time from daily routine and spend some quality time with friends and family. And festivals provide that very platform to come together and enjoy some moments.

The significance of Festivals: Festivals are also significant in our lives. They provide opportunities to catch up with old acquaintances, spend time with family, coming to know our parishioners. Festivals provide us a chance to celebrate life and have a good time while also teaching us more about the values of helping each other and importance of working as a team. The purpose of celebrations of any festivals should create harmony, peace, and happiness to individuals and to the community in large.
